ICOMOS Thematic studies / Etudes thématiques de l'ICOMOS

- ➔ To fulfill its obligations concerning cultural properties, ICOMOS undertakes comparative and thematic studies, often with partner organizations, in different subject areas in order to provide a context for its evaluations.

The cultural heritages of water in the Middle East and Maghreb / Les patrimoines culturels de l'eau au Moyen-Orient et au Maghreb. 1st ed.

Cotte, Michel (ed.), Durighello, Regina (ed.). Paris, ICOMOS, 2015. 152 p., illus.

ISBN: 978-2-918086-17-8 (e-version) available for download at:

http://www.icomos.org/images/DOCUMENTS/World_Heritage/CH%20of%20water_201507_opt.pdf

The proposed thematic study must be able to provide elements to identify and describe water heritages. We have tried to draw up a typological inventory which should primarily be seen as a methodological aid for anyone wishing to consider these questions, with a view either to achieving recognition and protection of such heritages by the World Heritage List or to protecting heritage in a national context.

The Silk Roads: an ICOMOS Thematic Study. Williams, Tim. Paris, ICOMOS, 2014. 152 p., illus.

ISBN: 978-2-918086-12-3. E-publication available for download at:

http://www.icomos.org/images/mediatheque/ICOMOS_WHThematicStudy_SilkRoads_final_Iv_201406.pdf

ICOMOS thematic studies are a synthesis of current research and knowledge on a specific theme. The aim of this study is to provide an analysis of sites along the Silk Roads that could be used by States Parties participating in the Serial transnational World Heritage nominations of the Silk Roads as a basis for comparative analyses when nominating series of sites.

FIRDUZ-BEY'S HAMMAM: Revitalization of the archaeological site

Sanković Simčić, Vjekoslava (ed.), ulabegović, Ferhad, Mujezinović, Nermina, Pravidur, Andrijana, Sanković Simčić, Vjekoslava, Simović, Snježana, Šekarić, Branka, Škarpa Dubreta, Darija. Sarajevo : Nacionalni komitet ICOMOS u Bosni i Hercegovini, 2013. 104 p., illus. ISBN 978-9958-9094-6-7.

Description in English:

"The most important event for the cultural heritage in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and especially in Sarajevo in 2010, was the research of the archaeological site called Firduz/Firuz's hammam and the discovery of its remarkably valuable substructures. The authentic remains of the hammam's hypocaustum bear vividly witness to the concept, method and building technique of this type of structures in the Ottoman period. That valuable site should be presented and accessible to the wider public, that is, needs to be conserved, restored and adequately integrated into the contemporary life of the Baščaršija quarter in Sarajevo."

Principles for the conservation of heritage sites in China (revised 2015). ICOMOS China, Beijing, 115p., illus. (same texts in Eng, Chi)

ISBN: 978-7-5010-4400-9.

This 2015 bilingual version was prepared and designed by ICOMOS China with facilitation and editing of the English translation by the GCI. As was the intention in the original version of the Principles, the translation was considered important to provide English-speaking professionals who work in China and the international preservation community with access to the China Principles. In the revised version each of the forty-five Principles is followed by associated Commentary that explains and amplifies it. The Glossary has been retained and updated or corrected as needed. E-publication available for download at: <http://openarchive.icomos.org/1485/>

As part of the 40th anniversary of the World Heritage Convention, this symposium addressed the notion of serial properties with a transversal approach. The first part consisted in an epistemological discussion of the concept of landscape in Europe and France, followed by a reminder of the political and administrative framework of landscape heritage management. Second followed the stories of projects, commitments actors around property sets or extensive property recently enrolled and projects in France, border and in neighboring countries.

"Water & Heritage ... tells the story of water heritage in all its diversity. It reveals the technical ingenuity that water heritage has always inspired, and it presents the challenges that this heritage faces, along with possible solutions. Reflecting the depth of cooperation between UNESCO and ICOMOS, this book was launched ... as a showcase of cooperation to increase dialogue on water heritage." – Irina Bokova (Director-General of UNESCO)
