New ICOMOS Privacy Policy and GDPR compliance

Dear ICOMOS Members and Friends,

As a membership network, ICOMOS is concerned because, both through its International Secretariat and its Committees, it detains and processes the personal data of members and others who use our services or attend our activities.

ICOMOS is fully committed to protecting personal data, and we have therefore updated our ICOMOS Privacy Policy, in the framework of the new European Union General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Please take the time to review the ICOMOS Privacy Policy to find detailed information on when and why we collect your personal information, how we use it and how we keep it secure.

ICOMOS membership and use of our on-line tools implies acceptance of the ICOMOS Privacy Policy and you will be asked to confirm this when you renew your membership for next year and also when you next access your profile via the ICOMOS website or attend an ICOMOS event.

Besides our website and social media, the main way we keep in touch with ICOMOS members and persons who have created an account on our website (eg. to use the ICOMOS Photobank) is through this ICOMOS e-News and occasionally through other electronic messages with information of professional interest in our field of work.

We very much hope that you will continue to enjoy reading us. Should you wish to unsubscribe from receiving ICOMOS' electronic communications, you can do so by logging into your personal profile via the ICOMOS website – and changing your preferences.

For any questions, comments and concerns or to exercise your rights in related to your personal data – please contact the ICOMOS Data Protection Officer via secretariat@icomos.org

With best regards
The ICOMOS International Secretariat
