The Swiss group has elected its Executive Board for the period 1973-76; 5 new members have taken the place of 5 retiring members.
Advisory and Executive Committees of ICOMOS

The Advisory and Executive Committees of ICOMOS held their annual meetings at the Hôtel Saint Aignan, ICOMOS headquarters, on November 26th and 30th, 1975. Among those present were the Chairman of 21 National Committees or their representatives, elected and co-opted members of the Executive Committee and the Chairman of the International Specialised Committees. The Director General of Unesco was represented by Mr. Gérard Bolla, head of the Cultural Heritage Division, who delivered a speech on his behalf, and by Mr. Hiroshi Daifuku, head of the Sites and Monuments Division, and the Rome Centre by Mr. Jean Taralde. The meetings were opened by the President of ICOMOS, Mr. Piero Gazzola.

The following subjects, among others, were discussed:

- activities of National Committees during 1975
- International Specialised Committees
- ICOMOS meetings during 1975 and programme for 1974-75-76
- approval of the Resolutions adopted at the Sandefjord, Yazd, Cordova, Lausanne, Vilnius, Salonica and Grenada symposiums
- ICOMOS's financial situation
- organisation of the IVth General Assembly of ICOMOS
- cooperation with other international bodies
- ICOMOS's role in world-wide and regional campaigns such as the United Nations Environment Programme and European Architectural Heritage Year (1975)
- rights and duties of ICOMOS members, and possible revision of the Statutes of ICOMOS
- admittance of the International Union of Architects as an associate member of ICOMOS.

To mark the meetings of the Executive and Advisory Committees of ICOMOS a reception was held at the Hôtel de Sully by the Caisse Nationale des Monuments Historiques of France and the French section of ICOMOS, which was honoured with the presence of Mr. Maurice Drouet, the French Minister for Cultural Affairs.

The International Specialised Committees

These Committees have a vital part to play in achieving the aims of ICOMOS. Consisting of a limited number of eminent experts appointed by the Executive Committee, they are given the responsibility in their various fields for promoting, coordinating and publicising the results of research into techniques of preservation and restoration and into the theoretical (e.g. economic and social) problems associated with the restoration of historic monuments and the conservation and regeneration of ancient towns and cities. To date, the following Committees have been set up:

Wood: Chairman Mr. Ernest Martin (Switzerland). Studies the technical aspects of the preservation of wooden structures, and with the Scandinavian National Committees, the special problems arising in the conservation of wooden towns and villages. Members: Messrs. C.F. Mannorstråle (Sweden), A. Mikhailov (Bulgaria), W. Noack (Germany), M. Berry (France) and a Canadian expert to be appointed.
Historic Towns: The Executive Committee decided, in view of the overriding importance of the subject, to create a dual structure, under the general Chairmanship of the President of ICOMOS, as follows:

(ii) a Committee of town-planning specialists under the Chairmanship of Prof. Jan Zawistowski (Poland) which has made a particular study of the problems faced by historic towns, and is engaged at the moment in the preparation of a paper on the principles on which the case for conservation is based, and on the problems associated with the protection and regeneration of historic town centres, to be published in MONUMENTUM. Members: Messrs. G. Alban (Spain), M. Auzelle (France), J. Genza (USSR), E. Hruška (Czechoslovakia).

(iii) a group of elected representatives of historic towns, under the Chairmanship of Mr. G. van den Abeele, Alderman and Chairman of the Finance Committee of the City of Bruges (Belgium), which will work side by side with the other Committee, contributing a firsthand knowledge of the practical and financial difficulties involved.

Urbanisation: Chairman Mr. Milton E. Lord (USA), responsible for the planning and implementation of the Unesco/ICOMOS documentation Centre. Members: Messrs. H. Formenti (Austria), A. Henshine (USSR), S. Melinowski (Poland), J. Palmes (UK), M. Parent (France), G. van Swigchem (Netherlands) and members of the Bureau of ICOMOS.

Historic Gardens: Joint Committee with the International Federation of Landscape Architects (IFLA). Chairman: Mr. René Fauché (Belgium). Will define the principles applicable to the restoration of historic gardens, and contribute to a general bibliography and up-to-date inventory of historic gardens. Members: Mrs. Bahova (Czechoslovakia), Mr. Gonzalez Cobrion (Spain), Mr. J. Peray (France), Miss Gollwitzer (West Germany), Mrs. Micouline (USSR).

Architectural Photography: (CIPA) Joint Committee with the International Society for Architectural Photography (ISAP). Chairman: Mr. Maurice Carboneau (France). Promotes the use of photographic techniques in architecture and archaeology, and the development of suitable equipment. An illustrated brochure is available on request. Members: Messrs. C. Bider (Turkey), H. Formenti (Austria), J. Pajan (Czechoslovakia), L. Bichner (West Germany), H. Dowling (UK), Schmiedt (Italy).

Stone Joint Committee with ICOM and the Rome Centre. Chairman: Mr. René Sneyers (Belgium). Studies the weathering and treatment of stone. Working groups under: Messrs. R. M. Lemaire (Belgium)-architecture, B. L. Lacy (UK)-climatology, J. Parent (Belgium)-petrography; M. Kanil (France)-mechanics, B. W. Vor (Netherlands)-hydrothermics; M. Krenz (Poland)-chemistry; J. Pichon (France)-archaeology; G. Torraca (Italy)-aging; L. Marchesini (Italy)-treatment. The Executive Committee decided henceforward to entrust this committee with an additional responsibility for research into damp in old buildings, and invited Dr. Giorgio Torraca to assist Mr. Sneyers in the Chairmanship of the enlarged committee.

Cultural Tourism: Chairman: Mr. Arthur Haulot (Belgium). Studies the use of historic monuments for tourist purposes, and the impact of tourism on historic places. Members: Messrs. G. de Angelis d'Osset (Italy), S. Lorentz (Poland), M. Querrien (France).

The International Specialised Committees meet regularly. Members of ICOMOS with a particular interest in any of the above fields are requested to contact the Secretariat.
Forthcoming Meetings

to be held by ICOMOS or under ICOMOS auspices

May 5 - 11, 1973
Frankfurt/Oder
East Germany
International Symposium on New Social Uses for Historic Monuments, organized by the East German National Committee of ICOMOS. (The Symposium will include a number of working visits, and will take place principally in Magdeburg and Neubrandenburg).

May 12 -16, 1974
Athens, Greece
International Symposium on Architectural Photogrammetry, organized by the National Technical University of Athens in collaboration with the International Committee for Architectural Photogrammetry (CIPA).

September 10-17, 1974
Warsaw, Poland
International Symposium on Museums and Monuments, organized by the Polish National Committee of ICOMOS and ICOM. The symposium will include numerous working visits, to Niaborow, Cracow, Pieszowa Skala, Zakopane, Berechnow, etc.

End of October 1974
Roumania
Symposium on the Conservation of Mural Paintings on the Exterior of Buildings, organized by the Romanian National Committee of ICOMOS.

Assembly General

The IVth General Assembly of ICOMOS will be held in the Federal Republic of Germany, at Rothenburg-ob-der-Tauber, in May 1975. It will have as its theme the problems posed by the conservation and development of smaller historic towns.

Publications

The Proceedings of the Symposium held at Fontainebleau (1971) on the conservation and restoration of historic gardens is now on sale at the ICOMOS Secretariat at a price of 30 francs (plus postage); a discount of 30% is allowed to members. The text is reproctyped and bound with photographic illustrations in a soft cover.

Volume IX of MONUMENTUM has been dispatched to all subscribers. It contains articles by Friedrich Mielke (on preventive measures in environmental protection); by L. de Vliegher (on the restoration of monuments in Roumania); by Janusz Lahmann (a contribution to the study of the effectiveness of consolidation work on stones); by James Fitch (on environmental aspects of the preservation of historic urban areas); and by Winston Wulman (on the restoration of James Bogardus's mid-XIXth century Laiing Stores building, New York).

Volume X, a special number devoted to the conservation of historic buildings in Spain, has just been received from the printers.

Owing to increased costs (especially postage), we regret that the 1974 subscription to MONUMENTUM (Volumes XI-XII, double issue) has had to be increased to U.S. $12 for members of ICOMOS.
Since the last Newsletter the Documentation Centre has received subventions of:

- £ 1,400 from the Austrian Government (= 0.5% of the annual contribution of Austria to Unesco)
- £ 500 from the Government of Cyprus
- Frs 7,000 from the Caisse Nationale des Monuments Historiques (France).

We are most grateful for this timely and valuable assistance.

1973 Meetings

organized by or held under the auspices of ICOMOS. The full text of the Resolutions adopted is available on written request to the Secretariat.

April 28–May 3
Córdova, Spain

Meeting of experts to discuss problems of conservation of monuments belonging to more than one culture, organized by ICOMOS at the invitation of the Municipality of Córdova. The meeting noted the exceptional value of buildings whose structure reflects a fusion of cultures, both from the cultural and the historical point of view, and stressed the need for particular care in their restoration. Special attention was paid to the Mosque/Cathedral of Córdova, and the meeting recommended that ICOMOS should support the Spanish Government's request that it should be classed as a monument of outstanding universal value under the Convention concerning the protection of the world cultural and natural heritage (Unesco 1972).

June 17 - 22
Lausanne, Switzerland

International Symposium on the Streetscape in Historic TownCentres organized by the Swiss National Committee of ICOMOS. The Symposium sought to define, through numerous examples, the historic role and value of the street as urban space on a human scale and to clarify its social and economic significance. Material provided by a number of ICOMOS National Committees was available in a 64 pp. pamphlet, with illustrations, published by the Bulletin Technique de la Suisse Romande; public interest was awakened by an exhibition in the Episcopal Museum of Lausanne. The participants were able to visit a number of historic towns in French-speaking Switzerland. The meeting stressed that the regeneration of the street depended not only upon the enforcement of strict standards of design, traffic control, etc., but most importantly upon the socio-economic setting. Social and functional diversity, and appropriate plot-ratios and internal volumes should therefore be maintained. New buildings should, subject to the usual provisos, be in a contemporary idiom. It is intended that the proceedings of the Symposium should form the basis of a forthcoming issue of MONUMENTUM.

September 3–8
Vilnius, Lithuania

Regional Conference on the Protection of Historic Town Centres and the problems of adapting them to new uses in socialist countries, organized by the Russian and Czechoslovak National Committees of ICOMOS. Attended by 250 participants, the Conference noted that the climate was at present favourable to the conservation of historic towns in Socialist countries, but that in order for them to be successfully integrated into modern society it was essential for their value to be recognized at the earliest stages of the planning process. Appropriate new uses would have to be found for many buildings. Excursions were made in and around Vilnius and to Kaunas and Trakai. The Conference resolved that regular meetings should be held within the framework of ICOMOS to study regional questions regarding the rehabilitation of historic towns and to discuss ways in which the countries concerned might contribute to European Architectural Heritage Year (1975).

A collection of papers read to the Conference will be published in Russian (with French summaries) by the Czechoslovak National Committee of ICOMOS.

October 3-10, 1973
Salonica, Greece

The 2nd International Symposium on the Conservation and Reanimation of Vernacular and Rural Architecture, organized by the Technical Chamber of Greece and the Greek National Committee of ICOMOS, concentrated on the fate of villages threatened by industrialization or by abandonment due to the mechanization of agriculture. The meeting agreed that this so-called "vernacular" architecture was an irreplaceable asset, making excellent housing, well suited to local climatic conditions, and nearly always capable of rehabilitation; it was also able to express the continuity of local traditions and culture in a way that the preservation of a few isolated monuments could never do. The authorities ought therefore to recognize its value in regional and national plans, and to make adequate provision (financial and legal) for its protection. At the same time systematic studies of the types and forms of traditional architecture should be undertaken.

The participants visited Kastoria, and noted with dismay the recent disfigurement of this ancient town by ill-considered modern developments.

October 29-
November 3, 1973
Granada, Spain

Papers were read on gardens of Islamic origin or influence in India, Persia, USSR, Arabia, Egypt, Morocco, Spain and Portugal. Particular attention was paid to the Islamic gardens of the Alhambra and Generalife, Granada, and the Alcazar, Seville. The resolutions underlined the need:
- for a special historical and archaeological study of gardens, drawing on all available sources and on the most up-to-date techniques for dating and research,
- for an adequate doctrine for the restoration of gardens, in keeping with the Charter of Venice.

The Unesco/ICOMOS Documentation Centre was requested to prepare an analytical bibliography of historic gardens. Special mention was made concerning the gardens of Granada, Shalimar (Kashmir) and the Red Fort at Delhi.

September 28-
October 3, 1973
Lucca, Italy

International Symposium on Architectural Photogrammetry, organized by the Società Italiana di Fotogrammetria e Topografia under the patronage of CIPA (see p.3). This meeting took stock of the development of photogrammetry for architectural and archaeological purposes. A certain number of reports of work carried out or in progress were read to the meeting, as well as important papers on the conception and organization of photogrammetric surveys.
